

Business Cards.

LEGAL.
S. J. YOUNG, B.A.,
BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public,
Office, Hooley Block, Bank St., Trenton. Money to loan at lowest rates. U.S. Consular Agency.

A. ABBOTT,
BARRISTER, etc. Room 3, Grass Block, Trenton, Ont. Money to loan.

MEDICAL.
J. S. SHURIE, B.A., M.D., C.M., M.C.P.S.O.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc. Office and residence, Marmora Street,
Telephone.

J. A. STEVENSON, M.D., M.C.P.S.O.
PHYSICIAN, Surgeon, etc. Member
College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario. Office and residence Cor. Division and Joseph Sts. Telephone 69.

DENTAL.
E. H. SIMMONS, L.D.S., D.D.S.
DENTAL SURGEON. Rooms in the Banker Block, opposite Ontario
Bank. Latest methods in Dentistry.
Office hours 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.
Telephone.

C. L. HAWLEY, L.D.S.
DENTIST. Rooms in Hooley Block.
Residence, Marmora Street, east
Trenton.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.
WM. E. BLAKELY,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses. Jeweler
and Optician. Diamond Hall, Dundas St., Trenton, Ont.

R. A. BARBER
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses. Office
at R. A. Barber & Co's Dry Goods Store, Front St., Trenton.

J. H. T. BLEASDELL,
ISSUER of Marriage Licenses. Office
Bywater Block, Dundas Street,
Trenton.

Get the best—It pays Attend the popular and progressive

ELLIOTT Business College
TORONTO, ONT.
and be thoroughly educated for business life. All graduates of this school are absolutely sure of getting positions.
The demand is considerably greater than the supply. Now is an excellent time to enter. Write for catalogue.
Cor. Yonge and Alexander Sts.
W. J. ELLIOTT, Principal.

Wm. E. Blakely D.O.
Graduate of the Optical Institute, of Canada, on Anatomy, Refraction and Convergence of the eye.
Graduate of the Empire
Optical College on Retinos-copy.
Graduate of the College of ophthalmology, on muscle
work and diseases of the eye.
Office Diamond Hall. Consultation free.
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES

CALVIN P. HILL
Harness double & single,
Horse Nets, Whips,
&c., &c.
I have only up to the last of October to get out of where I am and will sell at reduced rates.

We Trust Doctors
If you are suffering from impure blood, thin blood, debility, nervousness, exhaustion, you should begin at once with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the Sarsaparilla you have known all your life. Your doctor knows it, too. Ask him about it.
Unless there is daily action of the bowels,
poisonous products are absorbed, causing headache, dizziness, nausea, dyspepsia, and thus preventing the Sarsaparilla from doing its best work. Ayer's Pills are three pills. Act gently, all vegetables.
Made by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of
HAIR VIGOR,
AGUE CURE,
CHERRY PECTORAL.
We have no secrets! We publish the formulas of all our medicines.

Trenton's up-to-date Fur Store

We have one of the largest stock of furs in town, such as Ladies fur coats
and neck pieces.

We are also carrying a large assortment of choice minks.

Our prices are right, and a call is all we ask.

DION'S

Stomach troubles, Heart and Kidney ailments can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr.
Shoop's Restorative. The prompt and surprising relief which this remedy immediately brings is entirely due to its Restorative action upon the controlling nerves
of the stomach, etc. Sold by Jas.
Shurie.

Western Ameliasburg.

Mr. Robert Wadsworth and wife were the guests of Mr. H. Rathbun on Sunday last.
Mr. Jacob Young spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Daniel Eckert, of Centre.
Mrs. Jessie Potts, of Flint, Mich.,
is at present spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Chase.
Mr. Alfred Brown, of Picton, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. A. Brown.
We are sorry to report Miss Eva Chase is not enjoying very good health of late.
Miss Hattie Brown spent a few days of last week visiting relatives at the Carrying Place.
Owing to Teachers' Convention there was not any school at Young's on Thursday and Friday of last week.
Mrs. Spurgeon Brown of Amsterdam
N. Y., was visiting relatives and renewing acquaintances last week
at this vicinity.
Mrs. Eli Amworth, of Belleville, is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. Henry Snider.
There will not be any more service at Young's on Sunday evening, but at Carrying Place instead.

Johnstown

We are sorry to report the death of Wilfred Stickle, the senior son of Mr. and Mrs. Seby Stickle, who departed this life very suddenly on Sunday evening last. This double loss in a few days of their two oldest sons is a heavy blow to the parents. They have the heartfelt sympathy of the whole community in their bereavement.
Our annual thank offering has come up just to the hundred-dollar line since our last report. Well done, Johnstown! Let other churches go and do likewise.
Mr. J. E. Griffith, of Belleville, will take charge of the service next Sunday at 2:30 p.m., and Rev. W. P.
Rogers will hold the annual Missionary service on Sunday 27th inst.
The harvest is about all gathered in and was extra good for the season.

King St., Methodist Church.

The Pastor will preach at both Services next Sunday. Morning Subject—"Lessons from the Fading Leaves." Evening Subject—"The Prodigal Son."

Just Where the Danger Lies.
In many catarrh snuffs, cocaine is the largely used ingredient; in consequence the drug habit may be formed. To be really cured of catarrh, to do so quickly, safely and pleasantly, doctors say Catarthozone is superior to any other remedy. It heals sore places, stops discharge, prevents hawking, spitting and bad breath—does this by first destroying the cause of the disease.
Catarthozone is no experiment; it is guaranteed to give relief. It is a tried and proven cure that is guaranteed for bronchial, throat, nose and lung catarrh. Two sizes,
25c. and $1.00 at all dealers.

Sidney Crossing.

Oct. 14th.
Rev. L. S. Wight, of Brighton, conducted services at Johnstown church yesterday afternoon and delivered an excellent sermon.

Mrs. Wm. Simmons, of Belleville, is the guest of Mrs. S. T. Vandervoort and other friends here.

Mrs. Adams, of Belleville, spent Sunday last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Yateaman.

Mrs. Sage and Miss Collins, of Spencerport, N.Y., have been the guests at the home of Mr. John Fletcher during the week.

Mr. Austin Hogle, who has been very ill, is able to be out again.

The Sunday School of Aikens church held its annual Rally Day service yesterday, a good programme being provided by the children. Special music by the choir was much enjoyed by all. This school is in a prosperous condition, under the able management of Mr. F. A. Spafford, Supt.

Miss Ethel Johnson has returned from a week's visit with friends at Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Young spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Shorey, Wallbridge.

Miss Nellie Spafford is visiting her brother, Mr. Frank Spafford, of Massassaga.

Mr. Judson Kelley spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A.
Phillips, Redererville.

Mr. Frank Jeffery left this week to pack apples for a firm in Colborne.

Mr. Elmer Finkle and bride (nee Miss Clara Spicer, of Trenton) left on Tuesday for their home at Didsbury, Alta.
Mr. Finkle is agent of the C.P.R. at Trenton, and is one of the many Sidney boys who are coming to the front.

Wooler.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper Shaw, of Picton, have been visiting his sisters,
Mrs. D. S. Austin and Mrs. A. Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Smith, of Brighton, were at E. A. McColl's on Sunday.
Mrs. Fraser, their sister, who has been spending a few weeks here, returned with them.

Mr. C. W. Spicer and his mother, of Trenton, were the guests of Mrs. H. and Miss Thillie Bell on Sunday.

A young son came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dorland a few days since.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Free, of Campbellford, were visiting Mr. and Mrs.
F. A. Dorland lately.

A novel programme was given at the League "At Home" on Friday evening. There was a guessing contest and conundrums, all taking part and enjoying themselves, after which light refreshments were served.

Here's a Hat tip

If you are looking for the very latest in Fall styles of Derbies, here is your place to buy, and now is the time. We have our stock of all the latest shapes.

They are all sizes, high and low crowns, narrow and wide rims, and all are made of the best materials, guaranteed to wear well and keep the nap while wearing.

PRICES RULE LOW

A Fall and Winter OVERCOAT

will soon demand your attention. We have paid ATTEN-TION to these lines when the goods were in their largest and latest assortments, and the consequences are we have one of the best selected stocks of winter clothing in town.
All goods new and bought right.

We are not behind in any lines,
and we can assure you we are here to try and please you

Your Furnisher and Clothier

Thos. D. Bowerman

The Farmer's Pests.

To the Editor of the Despatch:—
I wish to state thru your valuable paper that a great number of people have the impression that they can go on property not belonging to them and take berries, apples, grapes, and numerous other things without even the asking—by your leave, may I? It is an old saying, "That which is not worth asking for is not worth having." There is one place especially which I have reference to in my letter, where the farmer is at times kept busy guessing who is running his place—a certain class of people or himself. Lovers of fish will walk thru his hay, tramping roads and making it a dreadful mess. Even after it is cut and stacked some will stop and pull out the hay, putting it in their rig to feed their horse. This is only one of the many offenses which is done. It is like this, Mr. Editor:
if you have a certain article which you want for yourself and find other people taking it, you would be a very mild man indeed if you were not provoked after ordering them to leave the place and article as well, and especially if they were so ignorant as to not know what they should do, and have no better sense than to return when your back was turned. This happened very recently. There is also a false report going to the effect that they were shot at. Now, it is not the first time that one of these same persons was ordered off this same place, or yet the first time that one of the partners of the place got a "scolding down" for so doing. The gall of some people even dynamite would not scare, let alone the firing of a gun. How would the shoe fit
if the farmer should go into a boot and shoe store in town, pick up a pair of boots and walk off with them? Would there not be a hum and cry at once of "Stop thief!"
Where is the difference—can anyone explain? Now, Mr. Editor, the main thing to be understood is this: These persons were not shot at or anything of the kind thought of, and it will be well for those circulating that report to contradict it at once. Thanking you for kindness in publishing this, I remain,
Yours truly,
Fair Play

A Triumph for Medical Science.

Medical science has added new laurels to its crown in the discovery of the cause of a disease that has ravaged the vicinity of the Mediterranean for thousands of years. Herodotus, four hundred and fifty years before Christ, described the disease, and since then it has borne many names. It has been called Mediterranean, Malta, Cyprus, Cretan, Neapolitan, intermittent typhoid, gastric remittent, bilious remittent, and various other kinds of fever. More than twenty years ago the specific organism which causes the disease was identified.
Recently a commission of physicians investigated the matter, and the discovery was made that about one-half of the twelfth century galleys which supply milk to the islanders of Malta were afflicted with the disease, and that their milk was consequently affected. The discovery led to the discontinuation of the use of goats' milk on the part of the soldiers and sailors stationed in Malta, with the result that the number suffering from the disease has been cut down by nine-tenths. And thus modern science is slaying the evils that have come down from a hoary antiquity.

Don't Neglect Your Skin.

A healthy skin is absolutely essential to HEALTH, HAPPINESS and BEAUTY, and the natural and never-failing way to keep a healthy skin is to treat all injuries and eruptions promptly with Zam-Buk.
Zam-Buk contains only the rich
saps and juices of healing, health-giving herbs, and is therefore Nature's Own Skin Remedy.

ZAM-BUK CURED.
Mrs. A. E. Gardiner, Catalina, of Piles
Miss K. M. Barlett, Montreal, of Eczema.
Mrs. A. Harrison Kingston, of Blood Poison.
Mr. Alfred Brown, Toronto, of Itch.
Mrs. Coggill, Wapella (Sask.), of Abscesses.

All Skin Diseases Yield to Zam-Buk.
Obtainable from all druggists and stores at 50c. a box. Send to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for free sample
box. Just cut out this offer, write name of paper across it, and mail, with 1c. stamp to pay postage.

MATTHEWS, NOLAN & CO.

MERCHANT TAILORING

Have you seen the new Winter Suitings, Overcoating, and Trousers in our Tailoring Department? No?
Well, you are missing something worth seeing. We have the handsomest fabrics for making to order you ever feasted your eyes upon. Many of the styles are confined exclusively to US. Come and see. You must know the reputation of our CUSTOM DEPART-MENT, for every one speaks well of
it. It's our handsome, our excellent work and our popular prices that have advertised us. We'll make you a Suit or Overcoat to order for $18.00 to $30.00. These are reasonable prices for what we propose to give you for your money.

MATTHEWS, NOLAN & CO.

Merchant Tailors and Furnishers

R. A. BARBER & CO.

1907 ~ AUTUMN ~ 1907

OUR NEW JACKETS

OUR new Jackets have arrived, and for value and style are unsurpassed in central Ontario. Any lady wanting an up-to-date Jacket, the latest New York style, should see our stock before buying, as this is one of our special lines.

DRESS GOODS

WE carry a splendid range of the celebrated PRIESTLEY Dress Goods, one of the most reliable makes in the world.
Now, ladies, this is loud talk;
nevertheless it is true. So don't buy your autumn dress until you see our magnificent display.

R. A. BARBER & CO.

Priestley's HUGUENOT CLOTH.

This Fabric
is Priestley's latest creation. It possesses all the durability and close texture of the old time serge
with the soft rich draping qualities of a French Cashmere.

For Hard and Dressy Wear.

HE LURED MEN TO DEATH

REMARKABLE LIFE STORY OF COUNT KAMAROVSKI

The Real Author of the Murder of Count Kamarovski—Nihilist Any Villain of Fiction.

No more sensational story has ever been told in fiction or acted in melodrama than that which has been unfolded by the Vienna (Austria) police in solving the mystery of the murder of Count Kamarovski at Venice a few days ago. Although some details of the case have doubtless been published in this country, the story in its entirety is of such a dramatic interest that it is well worth telling in full.

It is the story of a beautiful, shrewd and demagogical power which, by her wondrous beauty and powerful fascination, enticed and seduced over men who fell victims to her charms.

For the real author of the murder of Count Kamarovski, the Countess Maria Nikolayevna Tarnovskaya, for some time has been dazzling Vienna with her lovely face and brilliant manners. The chief characters in the tragedy were her puppets—men whom she had made her plant slaves willing for the chance of winning her to risk the lives of their wives and denunciation in the next breath.

The Countess is one of the most beautiful women living in Austria, and she is not only a beauty but a genius.

Her face gives the lie to physiognomy. With her deep, soulful eye she looks angelic. Her beauty, perhaps, is an heritage from her Irish ancestry, for she is descended from a gallant Irishman named O'Rourke who settled in Russia 100 years ago.

She was not eighteen when she married Count Tarnovski, a Russian nobleman of ancient lineage and possessor of large estates. After a few years she tired of her husband and soled herself with a lover, the Countess's husband denounced him in an anonymous letter to the count. The result was the count challenged him and killed him in a duel. This was the first man to lose his life for the Countess. Her many more she has been instrumental in sending to an untimely grave nobody knows for the Vienna police have not yet traced her career in the past.

The death of one lover, left her free to ensnare others. But Count Tarnovski's eyes were opened to her and instead of issuing her a divorce, she procured a divorce. The Countess was glad enough to be released from her matrimonial fetters. The process brought her another victim, in the divorce proceedings she employed a Moscow lawyer, M. Prikoff. At that time Prikoff was making something like $30,000 a year, enjoyed an unblemished reputation and was in the height of his domestic relations. Prikoff succumbed to the fascinations of his client. The result was that his law practice went all to pieces, his wife got a divorce from him and he was reduced to a few dollars with which he had been entrusted by clients before he was ensnared in the net.

TOILS OF THE COUNTESS.

Prikoff tagged after her about Europe. She picked up other victims in the course of her peregrinations. He discarded them as if suited her convenience, but Prikoff was always kept in view. He was her emergency man. He tried to poison her once, but she got rid of his troubles, but she would work on him with a steady hand in time to save his life. That she now regards as a misfortune, for if he does not swallow the poison, she will certainly get a long term of penal servitude.

Before leaving Russia for gay European fields the Countess cast her Russian but leeching spells over her Russian nobleman, Prince Nemoeff. Prince is rather plentiful in Russia and are not necessarily included among the top-notchers of the Russian aristocracy. But the prince had money and that was what counted most with her. He tagged after her, too, almost as faithfully as Prikoff, for he was just madly in love with her. His first mad love was for a divorce, his wife is suing him for a divorce, his wife will be hanged hardly admits of question, for he was the man who actually killed Count Kamarovski.

In the course of her travels the Countess had an old acquaintance whom she met at least for some time because the Countess had been in the war against Japan and had there been severely wounded.

THE COUNT HAD LOTS OF MONEY

and the Countess needed money badly. For Prince Nemoeff had about exhausted his immediate resources on her account and Prikoff had been dead broke for two years or more.

With the Countess, of course, the first money was to make good of a man's will. She was an adept at this. Count Kamarovski proved an easy conquest. He had a wife at the time, but she was a simple divorce case. The Countess selected the company in which she was to be a partner. The Countess Tarnovskaya became formally engaged.

The Count lavished gifts upon her. When she went out driving with him in Vienna, she created a sensation by the difference of her jewels and the magnificence of her carriage. She spent much time with him in Vienna, where the Count had a handsome villa in the Campo Santo Mon del Gigio.

But marriage with him formed no part of her plan. She was a woman who coveted and married to prove an obstacle rather than an aid to her complete possession. She got the Count to insure his life in her favor for $100,000. Prikoff selected the company in which it was to be a partner. The Countess was to make sure that in the event of his death, there could be no question of dipping the payment. Her estate will induce the Count to insure his life in her favor for which, in the event of his death, she will receive the great fortune would be hers. The Count was so madly in love with her that he was willing to do anything.

ACCEDE TO HER EVERY REQUEST.

The one thing remaining to be done was to make her an enormously wealthy woman. She asked Prikoff to get rid of the Count. She promised to reward him for marrying him and sharing the Count's fortune with him. Whether she ever had any intention of redeeming that pledge is doubtful.

STORIES THE IRISH TELL

A DUBLIN TALE OF THE MAN WHO FOUND A LOOKING GLASS.

The Turn of the Priest to Treat—A Blow for an Insulting German Officer.

If you enter Ireland by the north, as I did, you will not hear nearly as many Irish tales until you reach Dublin, where a Dublin correspondent, The Dubliner in the north is very like Scotch, but I was set down as a Dubliner. I was told that it would be neither Scotch nor Irish to the average reader, but a new and novel dialect, and he would promptly slip the story, that was clothed in this strange dress.

In Dublin one hears two kinds of speech, the most rolling, full and telling Irish dialect and also the most perfect English to be found in the British Isles. It is a delight to hear one's mother tongue spoken with such exquisite precision, with just the precision of a brogue to it. I am told it is really the way that English is spoken in the most successful playwriting was no show but Shakespeare.

The folk tale that follows was told me by a Dublin jurist, but by a Dubliner, and the right word of the Irish is given in the original.

He repeated me with many stories of Irishmen and Ireland and never let pass a chance to give me a story of the most amusingly good-natured way. To him the English as a race were a hateful, selfish lot. Most of the Englishmen he met were persons of no consequence, but he was convinced that the average Englishman was a man who was not only selfish and hypocritical, but also a puritan. But this is for ailed from his story of

THE FIRST LOOKING GLASS.

Once upon a time, said my friend, a man was walking by the edge of the ocean and he picked up a looking glass. He looked in it and he saw there the face of himself.

"Oh," said he, "is a picture of my father, and he took it to his cabin and hung it on the wall. And often he would go to look at it, and always he said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

But one day he looked to himself a wife, and when she went to the mirror and looked in she said,

"I thought you said this was a picture of your father. Sure, it is a picture of an ugly, red-headed woman. Who is she?"

"What have you?" said the man. "Step away and let me to it."

So she stepped away and let him to it and he looked at it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

STORIES THE IRISH TELL

A DUBLIN TALE OF THE MAN WHO FOUND A LOOKING GLASS.

The Turn of the Priest to Treat—A Blow for an Insulting German Officer.

If you enter Ireland by the north, as I did, you will not hear nearly as many Irish tales until you reach Dublin, where a Dublin correspondent, The Dubliner in the north is very like Scotch, but I was set down as a Dubliner. I was told that it would be neither Scotch nor Irish to the average reader, but a new and novel dialect, and he would promptly slip the story, that was clothed in this strange dress.

In Dublin one hears two kinds of speech, the most rolling, full and telling Irish dialect and also the most perfect English to be found in the British Isles. It is a delight to hear one's mother tongue spoken with such exquisite precision, with just the precision of a brogue to it. I am told it is really the way that English is spoken in the most successful playwriting was no show but Shakespeare.

The folk tale that follows was told me by a Dublin jurist, but by a Dubliner, and the right word of the Irish is given in the original.

He repeated me with many stories of Irishmen and Ireland and never let pass a chance to give me a story of the most amusingly good-natured way. To him the English as a race were a hateful, selfish lot. Most of the Englishmen he met were persons of no consequence, but he was convinced that the average Englishman was a man who was not only selfish and hypocritical, but also a puritan. But this is for ailed from his story of

THE FIRST LOOKING GLASS.

Once upon a time, said my friend, a man was walking by the edge of the ocean and he picked up a looking glass. He looked in it and he saw there the face of himself.

"Oh," said he, "is a picture of my father, and he took it to his cabin and hung it on the wall. And often he would go to look at it, and always he said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

But one day he looked to himself a wife, and when she went to the mirror and looked in she said,

"I thought you said this was a picture of your father. Sure, it is a picture of an ugly, red-headed woman. Who is she?"

"What have you?" said the man. "Step away and let me to it."

So she stepped away and let him to it and he looked at it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

STORIES THE IRISH TELL

A DUBLIN TALE OF THE MAN WHO FOUND A LOOKING GLASS.

The Turn of the Priest to Treat—A Blow for an Insulting German Officer.

If you enter Ireland by the north, as I did, you will not hear nearly as many Irish tales until you reach Dublin, where a Dublin correspondent, The Dubliner in the north is very like Scotch, but I was set down as a Dubliner. I was told that it would be neither Scotch nor Irish to the average reader, but a new and novel dialect, and he would promptly slip the story, that was clothed in this strange dress.

In Dublin one hears two kinds of speech, the most rolling, full and telling Irish dialect and also the most perfect English to be found in the British Isles. It is a delight to hear one's mother tongue spoken with such exquisite precision, with just the precision of a brogue to it. I am told it is really the way that English is spoken in the most successful playwriting was no show but Shakespeare.

The folk tale that follows was told me by a Dublin jurist, but by a Dubliner, and the right word of the Irish is given in the original.

He repeated me with many stories of Irishmen and Ireland and never let pass a chance to give me a story of the most amusingly good-natured way. To him the English as a race were a hateful, selfish lot. Most of the Englishmen he met were persons of no consequence, but he was convinced that the average Englishman was a man who was not only selfish and hypocritical, but also a puritan. But this is for ailed from his story of

THE FIRST LOOKING GLASS.

Once upon a time, said my friend, a man was walking by the edge of the ocean and he picked up a looking glass. He looked in it and he saw there the face of himself.

"Oh," said he, "is a picture of my father, and he took it to his cabin and hung it on the wall. And often he would go to look at it, and always he said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

But one day he looked to himself a wife, and when she went to the mirror and looked in she said,

"I thought you said this was a picture of your father. Sure, it is a picture of an ugly, red-headed woman. Who is she?"

"What have you?" said the man. "Step away and let me to it."

So she stepped away and let him to it and he looked at it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

STORIES THE IRISH TELL

A DUBLIN TALE OF THE MAN WHO FOUND A LOOKING GLASS.

The Turn of the Priest to Treat—A Blow for an Insulting German Officer.

If you enter Ireland by the north, as I did, you will not hear nearly as many Irish tales until you reach Dublin, where a Dublin correspondent, The Dubliner in the north is very like Scotch, but I was set down as a Dubliner. I was told that it would be neither Scotch nor Irish to the average reader, but a new and novel dialect, and he would promptly slip the story, that was clothed in this strange dress.

In Dublin one hears two kinds of speech, the most rolling, full and telling Irish dialect and also the most perfect English to be found in the British Isles. It is a delight to hear one's mother tongue spoken with such exquisite precision, with just the precision of a brogue to it. I am told it is really the way that English is spoken in the most successful playwriting was no show but Shakespeare.

The folk tale that follows was told me by a Dublin jurist, but by a Dubliner, and the right word of the Irish is given in the original.

He repeated me with many stories of Irishmen and Ireland and never let pass a chance to give me a story of the most amusingly good-natured way. To him the English as a race were a hateful, selfish lot. Most of the Englishmen he met were persons of no consequence, but he was convinced that the average Englishman was a man who was not only selfish and hypocritical, but also a puritan. But this is for ailed from his story of

THE FIRST LOOKING GLASS.

Once upon a time, said my friend, a man was walking by the edge of the ocean and he picked up a looking glass. He looked in it and he saw there the face of himself.

"Oh," said he, "is a picture of my father, and he took it to his cabin and hung it on the wall. And often he would go to look at it, and always he said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

But one day he looked to himself a wife, and when she went to the mirror and looked in she said,

"I thought you said this was a picture of your father. Sure, it is a picture of an ugly, red-headed woman. Who is she?"

"What have you?" said the man. "Step away and let me to it."

So she stepped away and let him to it and he looked at it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

"An ugly, red-headed woman it is," said she. "You had a lover before me, and she was very angry. And often she would go to look at it, and always she said, 'This is a picture of my father.'"

So they stepped away and let her to it, and she looked in it again.

STORIES THE IRISH TELL

A DUBLIN TALE OF THE MAN WHO FOUND A LOOKING GLASS.

The Turn of the Priest to Treat—A Blow for an Insulting German Officer.

If you enter Ireland by the

Another Railway Disaster At Trenton

A Freight Engine and Car Intended for the Trenton Siding Backs Into a Through Freight Train Before Daylight on Thursday

Seventeen Cars Go Over Embankment and Are Smashed in the Wreck

One Life Lost and Another Man Seriously Injured; Besides Six Horses Killed and Others Hurt

A Trenton Jury Blames Grand Trunk for Not Having Switches Better Attended To, as a Light Being Out Caused Brakeman to Turn Wrong Switch

As the townspeople awoke on Thursday morning last and hurried to their work and places of business, they were once more shocked to learn that a wreck had occurred on the Grand Trunk just east of the station, and within the town limits. The seriousness of the accident was greatly augmented by the fact that two unfortunate fellows were pinned beneath the wreckage, and that a number of horses were also buried under the cars which were piled one upon another on the embankment on the north side of the track in great confusion. Some of the cars were nothing more than kindling wood after the collision, and two were demolished beyond recognition of their numbers. The horse car happened to be near where the train was hit, and it was here where death dealt its blow, and injuries were inflicted.

ONE KILLED; ANOTHER INJURED

Seventeen cars left the track and toppled one on another over the side of the embankment. One of the cars contained fifteen fine race horses, which were on their way home after a successful tour of the different race tracks in charge of six men who were in the same car. A heavy refrigerator car fell on one end of the car containing the men and horses, pinning two of the men under the wreckage, one a mere boy, about 16 years old, by name William Reinhart, whose home is in Buffalo, N.Y. Being a naturally inclined jockey he was generally employed at Crandell's stock yards in Buffalo, N.Y. He died on being released. The other, Ernest Groves, was removed to Belleville hospital, and though seriously hurt it is expected he will ultimately recover. The names of the other four men are, William McGuire, aged thirty-five; Harry Busby, aged eighteen years; Stephen Jeanes, aged twenty-three years; and the last three being more or less injured about the head and legs; and Harry Moore, who miraculously escaped injury. All five were from Toronto.

HORSES KILLED

Six of the horses were killed, and nine others seriously injured are still under the care of R. C. Titus, V.S., here. The six that were killed were perhaps the most valuable in the lot. Another horse died since they were taken to the stables of Dr. Titus, a few hours after the wreck. There are still eight of the horses under the care of Dr. Titus, and while several of them are still in a dangerous condition, they are all doing as well as can be expected. The horses were owned by Mr. N. R. Sutherland, of Grimsby, who left them in charge of his assistants at Brockville, and proceeded home by passenger train.

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT

The cause of the wreck was the opening of the wrong switch which caused the engine and car on the siding to back into the through freight train from the east, instead of on the Trenton switch.

GILMOUR EMPLOYEES HELP

On reaching the factory, the employees of the Gilmour Door Company heard of the accident and the factory was shut down to enable the men to render what assistance they could in the work of rescue. This action was very commendable on the part of the management of the company.

TWO SURVIVORS

Harry Busby and Steve Jeanes, two of the young men who had such narrow escapes from a terrible death, having been in the ill-fated car with the horses, told a graphic story. Although they had gone through such a terrible experience and seemed to appreciate their miraculous escape from death, and were thankful that their injuries were no more serious, they talked freely of their experiences and how they were looking forward to reaching their homes in Toronto safely after their month's absence with the race horses.

AWFUL NOISES BY HORSES

Harry Busby said: "I was awakened by the door of the car falling on me, and I found I was surrounded by terrible confusion and the horses were making an awful noise. The car was upside down, having rolled over several times, and at the opposite end to where I was another car had buried poor Reinhart and Groves, the latter being pinned on top of Reinhart. It was at the other end, too, where the horses met their death."

then I discovered the light on the west switch that I should have turned was out.

"The whole cause of the accident was because I turned the wrong switch believing it to be the right one, as it was the first light we came to. "The darkness of the night was such that you could not have seen from one switch light to another at the distance between them, and the glass of the one I turned was badly smoked. I opened the east switch and it proved to be the wrong one, which leads to the cross over to the north track. The engine then backed up into this switch and we collided with No. 866."

Brakeman Wilson gave his evidence in a cool, deliberate and frank manner and told what seemed a straightforward story.

INQUEST RESUMED

When the inquest was resumed Monday evening, Engineer Kerr, who was in charge of the engine that backed the east car intended for the Trenton siding, into the westbound freight train as it was passing, was the first witness called. He admitted that he noticed only one light burning instead of two, but thought he was careful to stop his engine to avoid any trouble. He did not stop at the first switch, because, he said, there was nothing to indicate it. Like Brakeman Wilson he maintained that the accident would not have occurred had all the lamps been burning. After some questioning as to whether if the brakeman had used ordinary care the accident would have occurred, he said it was "a mistake any man might have made."

BAGGAGEMAN'S DUTY.

Mr. L. Buller, the Station Agent at Trenton, was examined concerning the responsibility of keeping the light going, and said that they were looked after by the baggageman who was on duty during the day. He did not think that there would be enough work for a yard switchman day and night.

Mr. C. Steenburg, the baggageman, told of lighting the lights on the night previous to the accident. He admitted that the glass on the particular light that failed to burn till morning, had been cracked, and that he had called the attention of the section foreman to it a week previously, but he could not say that this was what caused it to go out on several occasions.

Conductor John Tallon told of the instructions he had given Engineer Kerr and Brakeman Wilson to leave the train at Murray Hill, a few miles west of Trenton, and put a car on the Trenton siding.

LIGHT NOT BURNING.

Conductor N. Rouban, who was in charge of the westbound freight that had seventeen of its cars wrecked, said the light was not burning a few minutes after the disaster.

THE JURY.

The following jury was empaneled by the Coroner, Dr. Farley:—

Thomas McGeachie, foreman; R. A. Barber, R. Robertson, Chas. Bigelow, W. Weaver, Thos. E. Gotthard, D. Wuff, L. Roenigk, A. W. Smith, Allan Robertson, Alfred Lewis, Thos. Orrill, Geo. Redick, Chas. P. Chesbro, R. A. Lewis, Ambrose Smith, Harry Eilion, John Fecto, T. Griswold, Geo. Vanalstine.

AT THE INQUEST

At the inquest Friday evening Steve Jeanes, who was in the car with young Reinhart, was the first witness called by Crown Attorney Anderson. He related his awful experience, and how he escaped, while one of his associates received fatal injuries and another was so seriously hurt that he had to be removed to the hospital. Jeanes, himself, had a severe cut on the head and was otherwise hurt, but he thought he was very fortunate in escaping with no worse injuries.

Mr. D. Duff, one of the Jurors, also gave evidence of being at the wreck before the body was released and told of assisting in jacking-up the heavy car that pinned Reinhart and Groves and several horses down, having been thrown on top of one end of the car containing the horses.

Dr. Crowe gave evidence of the fact that he had examined the body of the deceased, and told of the condition he had found it. He considered the injuries he had found on the body to be sufficient to cause death, being probably suffocated in the quantity of hay in which he was buried, after receiving the injuries.

HE TURNED WRONG SWITCH

For about two hours Thomas Wilson, the brakeman whose mistake in turning the wrong switch that caused his engine with a freight car, intended for the Trenton siding, to run into another through freight train westbound, causing the accident that resulted in the death of the young jockey, told his story before the Jury. Wilson said he turned the wrong switch, allowing his engine with a car intended for the Trenton siding to run into a through freight train, but maintained in his story told to the Jury, that this error would not have been committed had the light on the switch he should have turned been burning. This light he claimed was out, and caused him to go on to the second switch, which he believed to be the first one. After turning the switch, he said, "I started to climb the ladder to get on the car, and when part way up I felt we were rubbing the passing train, and I then knew we were on the wrong track. As soon as the accident occurred I wondered how I made the mistake and started to investigate, and

Me. S. Wells, Claims Agent of the G.T.R., was present in the interests of the Company, and County Crown Attorney Anderson, of Belleville, attended in the interests of the Crown. The jury retired about eleven o'clock and little more than an hour later were prepared to report, when Corner Farley inquired if a verdict had been reached, the foreman, Mr. Thomas McGeachie, said they were ready and returned the following verdict.

THE VERDICT.

"We, the jury empaneled to enquire into the cause of the death of William Reinhart, find that he came to his death by being in a collision at the eastern switch of the Grand Trunk Railway at Trenton on October 10th, about five o'clock a.m., while in the discharge of his duty.

The said collision was caused by the Engineer, D. J. Kerr, and brakeman T. Wilson, mistaking the eastern switch for the western one; the light on the western switch being out.

"And we find that the said Grand Trunk Railway is to blame for the collision by not using proper precaution in keeping their switch lights in good condition, and should have a permanent switchman at such a dangerous point."

THE CORONER

Much credit is due to Dr. Farley, the Coroner, for the able manner in which he presided over the inquest. It was his first experience, but every detail was carefully looked after by the doctor. Cautious throughout the entire proceedings, yet not unnecessarily exacting, he appeared desirous of performing the duty he was called upon to discharge in a fair and impartial manner.

CONGRATULATE TRAINMEN.

A number of persons waited outside the Town Hall to hear the verdict of the jury. Brakeman Wilson and Engineer Kerr were congratulated by a number on the outcome.

Ernest Groves, the other victim, is still in Belleville hospital, but is doing well and will recover.

The police of New York City and the trans-Atlantic steamship companies have united, it is said, in a plea to gamblers who play their trade on ocean liners.

Some stringent legislation against automobiles will be required to satisfy the farmers of Ontario. The latest complaint is that the attendance at women's institutes is falling off because of the reckless speed of motor cars using the rural roads, and the disregard of all speed laws. Complaints have been sent to the superintendent of farmer's institutes, and will be laid before the government.

The Mooney Way

There's nothing too good to go into MOONEY'S CRACKERS. The best flour that Canada mills, the best butter and cream that Canada's famous dairies can produce, and the best equipped bakery in Canada, to convert them into the best crackers you ever ate—

Mooney's Perfection Cream Sodas
They are good eating any time and all the time.
Crisp, inviting, toothsome.

At all Grocers

Mooney's Perfection Cream Sodas

LIMERICK COMPETITION.

Cash for Mail and Empire Readers.

The success of the Limerick Competition, which has been running for the past few weeks in the Toronto Mail and Empire, has been so phenomenal that they have decided to raise the amount of prize money in the contest, which commenced Friday, Sept. 27, to $100.00. The person who sends in the best suggestion for the last line of the incomplete Limerick will receive $30.00. The other prizes are as follows: the second, $20.00; the third and fourth, $10.00 each; the fifth and sixth, $5.00 each, and ten consolation prizes of $2.00 each. It is probable that these contests will be continued from week to week, and the conditions governing them will be found in both The Daily and Weekly Mail and Empire.

Greatest Female Strengthener on Earth.

Thousands of women are weak, pallid, run down and dispirited. What they need is that nourishing tonic Ferrozone. Soon they regain those laughing eyes, bright spirits and rosy cheeks. Ferrozone does this and more as Mrs. L. Adrianson, of Whitney Pier, C. B., testifies. "My daughter was very much run down and had considerable trouble at times. Often I was at a loss to know what to do. I was advised to give her Ferrozone, and I did so. Ferrozone cleared up all the trouble, made my daughter healthy and well. Ferrozone gives good appetite, regulates, strengthens. I consider it a medicine every woman should use regularly if she wants to feel her best." Price 50c. per box at all dealers.

Gained Both in Strength and Weight.

Another Case that Proves the Merit of Ferrozone.

"I was in poor health nearly all last winter," writes Mrs. Cross, of Wakefield, Ont. "My appetite was variable, I was weak and unfit for work. I suffered a good deal from nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. My digestion was generally out of order. By spring-time I had lost flesh, color, and had a bad cough. The doctor didn't help me very much, so I decided to try Ferrozone. It did me ever so much good in one week. I gained strength, looked and felt a lot better. When I had used six boxes of Ferrozone I weighed myself and found a gain of fifteen pounds. Ferrozone rebuilt my constitution, and made me a new woman. I consider Ferrozone worth its weight in gold to every weak woman. It cures quickly and saves big doctors' bills. (MRS.) R. CROSS."

No tonic so certain, so helpful, so safe; try Ferrozone yourself, 50c. per box at all dealers.

Young At Eighty.

People are no longer ashamed to be about and doing their work at eighty. They no longer feel compelled to apologize to their young descendants for standing in the way. They have discovered the old age is a relative term, and that unless serious physical disabilities or crippling disease come at eighty, one may be active without being disrespectful to the younger generation or lacking in respect for one's own contemporaries.

Speechless and Paralyzed.—"I had valvular disease of the heart," writes Mrs. J. S. Good, of Truro, N.S. "I suffered terribly and was often speechless and partially paralyzed. One dose gave me relief, and before I finished one bottle I was able to go about. Today I am a well woman."—43. Sold by Jas. Shurie.

The Foundation of Every "Progress" Coat

The good looks, and shape, and wear, too—of a "Progress Brand" Coat, depend on the part you never see—the INSIDE.

This figure shows the anatomy of "Progress Brand" Coats. The patent sleeve and shoulder pads—the strong felt, genuine hair-cloth and thoroughly shrunken canvas. This foundation is moulded by hand and held by hand stitches.

It is this perfect building of the foundation that gives perfection to the finished "Progress Brand" garment. "Progress Brand" Suits and Overcoats prove that they are made right, by the wear they give.

BIGELOW BROS.

LAKE ONTARIO & BAY OF QUINTE STEAMBOAT CO. LIMITED.
Rochester, N. Y., Thousand Islands

Str. "CASPIAN"

(Commencing September 1st)
Leave Canal Bridge (Trenton) Monday at 1:00 a.m. for Brighton and Port of Rochester, N. Y.
Returning will arrive at 1:15 a.m. Sundays, and leave for Bay of Quinte, Kingston and Thousand Islands.
Bus leaves Rathbun's Livery, Trenton, to connect with steamer both ways.

For further information apply to E. E. HORSBY, General Mgr. Kingston
H. F. WHITTIER, Agent. Trenton

St. "VARUNA"

A. HICKS, Captain.

REGULAR TRIPS
Will leave Trenton every morning (Sunday excepted) at 7 o'clock, calling at Redville and all points between the head of the Bay and Pictou, leaving Belleville at 8:30 a.m., Deseronto at 10:20 a.m. Will connect at Pictou with stage for Sand Hills. Parties wishing to arrange for excursion rates will see the Captain on board. Will leave Pictou at 1 p.m., on return for head of Bay; Deseronto at 2:30 p.m., Belleville at 4:30 p.m., and Trenton at 6 p.m. Omnibuses in waiting at Trenton Belleville and Pictou.

New subscribers get the Trenton Courier to Jan 1st 1908 for 25 cents.

Talk About Wall Papers

Just come and see our stock. More wall paper to be seen in this store than in any other store between Toronto and Montreal, and we back this statement by proof of displaying the goods.

One hundred thousand rolls of paper at the present time. Come and count them if you don't believe. More paper in this store than in the combined other stores in the city, and with it all GREATER VALUES, MORE BEAUTIFUL GOODS, and we know how to use them.

Our decorating is growing famous, not alone in Belleville but in many surrounding towns and cities—in Cobourg, Napanee, Brighton, Toronto, Dundas, and Hamilton.

We constantly have some of our skilled workmen in other cities and towns executing finer work.

C. B. Scantlebury, Decorator & Designer. Belleville.

TRENTON MARKET.

Apples,	10c to 15c a peck
Buckwheat	60c per bus
Beef (by carcass)	5 to 6c lb
Butter,	28 to 30c
Barley,	50c per bus
Beans, white,	90c to $1.40 per bus
" col. according to variety,	60c
Chickens	60c to 70c per pair
Clover, red,	$8.00 to 9.00
Clover, alsike,	$3.00 to 6.00
Oatmeal,	30c quart
Eggs, per doz.	20 to 22c
Geese	75 to $1.00
Hay,	$14 to $20 per ton
Ham	10c per lb
Hogs (dressed)	$8.00 $9 per cwt
Hides	6 to 7c per lb
Honey,	11c per lb
Lard,	13c per lb
Oats	45c per bushel
Peas	(Goldvine) 75c
Potatoes,	90c per bag
Mrs. J. S. Good,	65c per bus
Rye,	2.00 to 3.00
Timothy	90c per bus
Wheat, fall,	90c per bus
Wheat, spring,	90c per bus
Wool	20 to 21c per lb

To check a cold quickly, get from your druggist some little remedy called "Preventives." Druggists everywhere are now dispensing Preventives, for they are not only safe, but decidedly certain and prompt. Preventives contain no Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening. Taken at the "onset stage" Preventives will prevent Pneumonia, Bronchitis, LaGrippe, etc. Hence the name, Preventives. Good for feverish children. 48 Preventives 25 cents. Trial boxes 5 cts. Sold by Jas. Shurie.

HAMILTON BAY OF QUINTE MONTREAL LINE

Between Hamilton, Toronto, Bay of Quinte Ports, Kingston, Brockville, Prescott, Montreal and intermediate ports.

Eastbound leave Trenton 6:45 a.m., Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday.
Westbound leave Trenton 5:00 a.m., Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday.

For tickets and berth reservations apply to

C. E. DEVINNEY or A. W. FRASER, Agents R. & O. N. Co., Trenton, Ont.
H. FOSTER CHAFFEE, A. G. P. A., Toronto.

The Central Ontario Railway TIME TABLE.

Pictou Train
Leaves Trenton	7:15 a.m.
Arrives Pictou	4:30 "
Leaves "	9:00 "
Arrives Trenton	10:15 "
Leaves "	12:00 "
Arrives Pictou	1:15 p.m.
Leaves "	3:30 "
Arrives Trenton	4:45 "
Maynooth Train
Leaves Trenton	6:15 a.m.
Arrives Maynooth	11:25 "
Leaves "	12:10 p.m.
Arrives Trenton	5:05 "
Coe Hill Train
Leaves Coe Hill	6:10 a.m.
Arrives Trenton	11:00 "
Leaves "	12:45 p.m.
Arrives Coe Hill	5:30 "

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY SYSTEM

GOING WEST
Mail No. 5 (Daily)	2:41 a.m.
No. 13 (except Sunday)	6:09 a.m.
No. 11 "	11:24 a.m.
Mail No. 7 (daily)	5:32 p.m.
GOING EAST
Mail No. 6 (daily)	11:04 a.m.
No. 4 "	11:41 a.m.
No. 12 (except Sunday)	5:26 p.m.
No. 14 "	8:43 p.m.
No. 8 (Daily)	12:01 a.m.

Unless otherwise stated trains run daily except Sundays.
For tickets, time-tables and full information apply to H. F. WHITTIER, Agent

THE ONTARIO AND QUEBEC NAVIGATION CO. LIMITED.

STEAMER "ALEXANDRIA"

Commencing Saturday, September 21st, the steamer "ALEXANDRIA" will leave Brighton and Murray Canal Saturday afternoons, and run as far as Trenton, leaving Trenton early Sunday morning for points as far as Pictou, leaving Pictou for Montreal and way ports Monday at 12 o'clock noon.

Rates Very Reasonable

Freight Handled with Care
For further information apply to H. F. Whittier, or write B. R. Hepburn, Agent, Pres. & Gen. Mgr. Trenton, Ont. Pictou, Ont.

A weak Stomach, causing dyspepsia or a weak Heart with palpitation or intermittent pulse, always means weak Stomach nerves or weak Heart nerves. Strengthen these inside or controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly these ailments disappear. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis. will mail samples free. Write for them. A test will tell. Your health is certainly worth this simple trial. Sold by Jas. Shurie.

Paint

We are clearing off our entire stock of the celebrated Jewel Paint at less than cost.

If you have any painting to do, this is an opportunity. You can do it well at a small cost.

The Mowat Hardware Co.

T. J. JOHNSON

Carpets, Housefurnishings
: : and Staple Dry Goods : :

See Our

SHAKERS AT 5 CENTS
SHAKERS AT 8 CENTS
SHAKERS AT 10 CENTS

Our 25c Hose are the best
Our Floor Oilcloths at 25c per yard are good value

We have the best Linoleums made, in prices from 40c, 45c, 50c, and 60c yard.

Inlaid Linoleums worth $1.00 per yard, CLEARING OUT at 85c per square yard.

See Our

Shaker Blankets before buying elsewhere. Wrapperettes at all prices.

Carpets of all kinds at all prices. Overalls, Shirts, Men's Underwear, and Sox. Ladies' Underwear and Hose of the best.

Lace Curtains, Chenille and Tapestry Curtains Table Covers, Roller Blinds, Curtain Poles, Etc. SEE OUR CURTAIN POLES AT 25c EACH

We are selling our Corsets at less than cost, as we do not intend to carry them. CALL AND SEE THEM.

T. J. Johnson - Trenton's Carpet Man